The last few months have been an exciting time in JALTCALL. The state of our SIG is strong, with steady membership numbers and adequate reserves. We were able to transition once again to a successful online conference, thanks to the tireless efforts of our co-chairs Gary Ross and Erin Noxon and a huge assist from Steve Henneberry.

We are in the initial stages of planning for JALTCALL2022, and please stay tuned for some exciting information about where this conference is heading. We also have some great news with the Journal.

At our Annual General Meeting in June, we were able to add to our officers' list and are happy to have so many capable members on our team.

The JALT CALL
vol. 17 no.2

With the publication of the April issue of The JALT CALL Journal, the Journal is now hosted on the publisher's website at <https://www.castledown.com/journals/jaltcall/>. The transition to the new host was very smooth thanks to the hard work of the Journal Co-Editors-in-Chief, Glenn Stockwell and Nobue Tanaka-Ellis, the SIG Webmaster, Gary Ross, and the excellent team at Castledown Publishing. This move will improve the visibility of the Journal and bring even more prestige to our SIG's signature publication! A huge Thank You! to everyone who made the move go so well!

At the June SIG Annual General Meeting, the new Publications Chair, Todd Cooper, was elected to succeed Edo in managing the SIG's publications. Todd took over and started working with James York on the Post-Conference Publication. The PCP is currently in the editing process, so more will be announced about its publication in future correspondence.

We held another successful online conference, JALTCALL2021. We raised the conference presenters' and participants' fees, but we still welcomed many participants from all over the world. Because of expected surplus income, we offered a discount fee for students and some participants with financial difficulties. With the steady income from the membership fee, we have sound financial health so far.
